A Social Learning Platform for Nonprofit Professionals

All nonprofits on the Resilia Platform have access to Resilia Academy, a social learning-focused educational tool for nonprofit professionals looking to grow their skills and build capacity in their organizations. Nonprofit professionals reach their education goals while working through real-life scenarios, sharing knowledge, and building community.

Unlike other educational content in the nonprofit space, Resilia Academy integrates into your everyday life, allowing learning to happen in real time as you apply best practices and stay familiar with current trends.

The Resilia Community

Resilia Community connects nonprofits and platform users around roles, needs, and growth plans. Through a moderated space based on topics, course tracks or cohorts, nonprofit professionals will be able to:

- Join a course track to learn exactly what they need for their stage or role. A course track is a series of curated academy resources (courses and templates) that help the learner acquire a new skill or complete an action.
- Join a learning experience cohort with other professionals looking to grow in their role. Cohort groups participate in a facilitated community space on a schedule.
- Connect with others around specific topics or questions.
- Participate in group coaching conversations around critical topics.
- Connect to coaches and learn new skills through in-course modules, allowing anyone to supplement their education with community support.
- Participate in peer-to-peer learning with other nonprofit professionals who may have gone through some of the same issues and can share ideas, resources, and more!
